BONAPARTE THE MAN TO BLAME

Called Off Investigation of the Sugar Trust.

ROOSEVELT IS NOT INVOLVED

Former President Had Depended Entirely Upon the Judgment of His Attorney General—Latter's Predecessor Had Encouraged George H. Earle, Jr., to Believe That His Case Would Be Taken Up by the Department of Justice.

New York, Nov. 18.—A hint as to what is doing at the cabinet meetings in Washington affecting the attitude finally to be assumed by the Taft administration toward the sugar trust situation of the gravest political importance was reflected here in the talk of the highest federal officials.

It is evident from intimations of the Taft appointees in New York that when the crisis of the situation is reached the president will lead the chorus of defense of his predecessor, who seems certain to be harshly criticised for failing to order action of a determined character against the sugar trust on the statement of facts laid before him by George H. Earle, Jr., of Philadelphia. Lawyers do not deny that had the department of justice taken up the case against the trust when evidence was produced by Mr. Earle in September, 1900, showing that the sugar company was violating both the criminal and civil clauses of the Sherman anti-trust laws, the government would not now be confronted at the beginning of its rigorous course against the trust by the danger of the case being lost through the indicted officers and directors of the trust appealing to the statute of limitations.

While none of the federal appointees here who discussed this phase of the situation would consent to be quoted there was a similar unanimity of expression among them that no blame could be attached to President was then Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore, to give to the Earle case the proper consideration and that the president was governed wholly by Bonaparte's advice.

The latter's predecessor, William H. Moody, now a justice of the United States supreme court, had encouraged Earle to believe that his case was sound and would be taken up by the department of justice. It is known that Mr. Earle received positive assurances to this effect from Milton D. Purdy, assistant to the attorney general under both Moody and Bonaparte. Mr. Purdy was afterward a federal judge in Minnesota by appointment of President Roosevelt.

It is said that as soon as Mr. Bonaparte entered the department of justice Mr. Purdy was virtually taken off the Earle case by Mr. Bonaparte, who gave his personal attention to it, with the result that Earle was informed that he had not made a case that could be successfully prosecuted by the government.

All the correspondence between Earle and Bonaparte on the subject has been published. That between Earle and President Roosevelt has not as yet seen the light of publicity. Apprehending the possibility of its publication it is believed that from now on the Taft administration, from the highest to the lowest of its pillars, will attempt to shift to Bonaparte all of the blame for the failure of the Roosevelt administration to act.

Central Equity Bank.

Indianapolis, Nov. 18.—A plan is being discussed by the American Society of Equity whereby a central equity bank will be established at Indianapolis, with a capitalization of $1,000,000, and with branches in every part of the country where the society has members. Its purpose will be to advance money on the crops and to carry the growers financially when any movement is made to hold the crops for certain prices.

TO SETTLE YERKES ESTATE

Petition Filed in Court Asking for Confirmation of Agreement.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—A petition was filed in the probate court by L. S. Owsley, executor of the estate of Charles T. Yerkes, asking for the confirmation of an agreement entered into between Mrs. Mary Adelaide Yerkes, widow of Charles T. Yerkes, the executor for the estate of Charles T. Yerkes and the heirs of the estate. This agreement, if confirmed, will dispose of many of the difficulties, such as the filing of cross suits, etc., which have confronted the estate and delayed settlement.

By this agreement it is provided that Mrs. Yerkes waives all claims to property located in New York and dismisses all litigation against the executor and the estate, she receiving her dower in all of the real estate and the widow's third of the personal property after all debts are paid; and, furthermore, she will receive $400,000 after all bequests are cared for, as provided by the will. The payment of $400,000 is in lieu of all her claims. The property involved in her claims was valued at about $3,000,000.

Killed by a Hunter.

Island Falls, Me., Nov. 18.—Believing that an object he saw through a thicket was a moose or a deer, Harvey Brewster sent a bullet through the brush and into the back of Milan Jarvis, killing him instantly.

Mistook Man for Coyote.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 18.—An Oliver county farmer named Holer, while hunting, was standing on top of a hay stack in a clearing watching for deer. A Mandan hunter named Anderson was following a coyote and when he came out into the clearing saw something moving on the hay stack. He says he thought it was a coyote. He shot and wounded Holer, who died in a hospital at Mandan of his wounds.

Killed by Snowplow.

Moorhead, Minn., Nov. 18.—Peter Johnson of this city, an employee of the Northern Pacific railway, who had served on the section force for the past twelve years, was instantly killed by a Russell snowplow which struck him while he was at work in the Dilworth switch yards. The blade of the plow cut off one of his legs and sliced up his body.

Three Reported Killed.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 18.—William Dodds of Watertown, N. Y., arrived here and told a wild story of the north woods in which he alleged his father and two brothers had been intentionally shot to death while hunting in Dickinson county. The authorities are investigating, but as Dodds cannot be found the report is believed to be a hoax.

NO REASON FOR REOPENING IT

Taft's Attitude on Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy.

NO ULTIMATUM TO PRESIDENT

Government's Chief Forester Denies Story to the Effect That He Had Given the President the Choice of Putting Secretary Ballinger Out of the Cabinet or Accepting Mr. Pinchot's Resignation.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, which involves the diverse views of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and Chief Forester Pinchot over the methods to be employed in conserving water power sites embraced in public lands, broke out afresh in spots. That is to say it was asserted in newspaper publications that Mr. Pinchot had delivered an ultimatum to President Taft that the government service was too small to hold Mr. Ballinger and Mr. Pinchot at the same time, and the president had directed Attorney General Wickersham to make a new investigation of Mr. Ballinger's alleged interest in the Cunningham claims to coal lands in Alaska.

Mr. Pinchot, of whom it was said that he had given the president the choice of putting Mr. Ballinger out of the cabinet or accepting Mr. Pinchot's resignation, got out a denial in which incidentally he made an unkind remark about the story that "a conspiracy" to nominate Theodore Roosevelt in 1912 had been formed by strong Roosevelt supporters, Mr. Pinchot among them. This is the denial:

"The story that I have issued an ultimatum to the president, like the recent 'conspiracy' story, is merely a silly fabrication. Of course, I have done nothing of the kind, nor anything that could be twisted into that meaning. The president was good enough to express his satisfaction with my work, and I am going ahead with it."

Story Lacked Confirmation.

The story that President Taft had directed his attorney general to investigate Mr. Ballinger's conduct in connection with the Cunningham claims was full of details. All that it lacks is any sort of confirmation. Mr. Ballinger's legal adviser, the assistant attorney general for the interior department, it was asserted, had written the letter signed by Mr. Taft exonerating Mr. Ballinger from the charges of Special Agent Glavis, who lost his position by authority of Mr. Taft for attacking Mr. Ballinger. Mr. Taft, it was set forth, had read a statement by Mr. Glavis which appeared recently, in which there were some things reflecting on Mr. Ballinger that had not been brought to the president's attention before, and Mr. Taft had told Attorney General Wickersham to make a new inquiry into the Glavis charges. The suggestion of this new story is that Mr. Ballinger's legal adviser had purposely left out of the letter, which he prepared for Mr. Taft's signature, some of the allegations of Special Agent Glavis against Mr. Ballinger.

The president's letter exonerating Mr. Ballinger was given to the newspaper men who accompanied Mr. Taft on his 13,000-mile trip and was filed by them at Albany, N. Y., when the president's train arrived there on Sept. 16. Part of it, at least, was dictated by the president on the train. It is news to the administration that the president let one of Mr. Ballinger's associates write the letter for the president's signature. Assistant Attorney General Lawler, the alleged letter writer, is out of town.

To sum up the situation, the president has not reopened the Ballinger-Pinchot trouble or the Ballinger-Glavis trouble and sees no reason to do so.

No Worried Over Astor.

New York, Nov. 18.—Regarding Colonel John Jacob Astor, from whom no word has been received since the recent storm in the West Indies, where he was cruising with his steam yacht Nourmahal, it was said by his secretary that no uneasiness need be felt, as the Nourmahal had undoubtedly sought shelter in some harbor during the storm.

No Action on Stock Issue.

New York, Nov. 18.—Revival of the rumor that the Chicago and Northwestern is planning an issue of new stock to the extent of one new share for each four shares now outstanding has brought out the statement from an officer of the company that no action has yet been taken regarding a new issue of stock.

WILL BE LIVELY DOINGS IN HOUSE

If What Insurgent Congressmen Say Is True.

Washington, Nov. 18.—If what certain Republican insurgent congressmen say is true there will be lively doings in the house as soon as congress meets. The Republican insurgents claim to have fifty Republicans in line with them who will be willing to upset the house rules, strip Cannon of his arbitrary power and generally turn things upside down.

Representative Norris of Nebraska, a ringleader in making trouble for the house leaders last year, is in Washington. He says he has a list of fifty Republican members of the house who will stand with the insurgent band from start to finish. Mr. Norris will not give the names of the fifty. He says he and his associates have come to the conclusion that they can get no legislation of the kind they advocate under existing conditions. Consequently they consider that they can lose nothing by making warfare on Speaker Cannon and his pet rules. Norris asserts that they will do this and, furthermore, he seems to be confident of success.

If Norris really has fifty Republicans with him in the insurgent band it will be more than enough to control the situation. The normal Republican majority is only forty-eight. If fifty line up against Cannon and Champ Clark is able to keep the 172 Democrats in line the combination easily will be master of the situation.

NATIONAL GRANGE ELECTS

Regulars Win Complete Victory Over Insurgents.

Des Moines, Nov. 18.—The present officials in the ranks of the National Grange won a complete victory over the insurgents at the annual election of officers here. The list of officers chosen follows:

Master, N. J. Bachelder, Concord, N. H.; overseer, T. C. Atkinson, Morgantown, W. Va.; lecturer, Oliver Wilson, Magnolia, Ill.; steward, C. D. Richardson, West Brookfield, Mass.; assistant steward, L. H. Healey, South Woodstock, Conn.; treasurer, Mrs. E. S. McDowell, Wellesley, Mass.; secretary, C. M. Freeman, Tippecanoe City, O.; gatekeeper, D. C. Mullen, Nampa, Ida.; Ceres, Mrs. Elizabeth P. Patterson, College Park, Md.; Pomino, Mrs. Grace E. Hull, Dimondale, Mich.; Flora, Mrs. Sarah G. Bacid, Minneapolis; lady assistant steward, Mrs. Mary A. Smith, Morrisville, Va.; executive committeeman, to serve three years, S. H. Messick, Bridgeville, Del.

Mistaken for a Deer.

Duluth, Nov. 18.—John East thought Otto Zebott was a deer as Zebott was walking along a country road near his farm, two miles from Duluth, and discharged a rifle at him. The bullet shattered Zebott's left arm and was imbedded in the skin of his body above his heart.

Killed by Coal Gas.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 18.—Matt Pruge, an unmarried homesteader living near Sibley Butte, was found dead by two neighbors. He had evidently been overcome by coal gas fumes, as the stovepipe in the room was down and the house filled with gas when he was found.

UNIFORM CODE OF RULES

Adopted by National Association of Railway Commissioners.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Despite opposition to the forty-eight-hour free time rule and the failure to embody a "reciprocal demurrage rule," the National Association of Railway Commissioners in convention here adopted a uniform code of demurrage rules to be applicable alike to state and interstate transportation. This code was incorporated in a report of a committee headed by Commissioner Lane of the interstate commerce commission.

The object of the association in approving the code was to facilitate its actual application to all transportation on the ground that demurrage rules, loosely drawn and laxly enforced, constitute one of the last strongholds of those who seek to render the law against discrimination impotent.

One of the most determined advocates of a limitation to forty-eight hours was C. F. Staples of Minnesota.

The majority of the committee reported that it considered the question of "reciprocal demurrage," or a fine on the railroads for failure to deliver cars after they were ordered, did not come within its province. The minority members took the opposite view but the association upheld the majority.

DISCUSSES THE TARIFF LAW

Representative Martin Says Congress May Amend It.

Washington, Nov. 18.—"If it should be developed, incident to the enforcement of the maximum and minimum provisions of the new tariff, that, as a general practice, the higher rather than the lower rates of duty were being imposed on products coming into the United States, I am firmly of the opinion that congress would at once address itself to the task of amending this feature of the Payne-Aldrich act."

This statement was made by Representative Eben W. Martin of South Dakota, apropos of the conference held at the White House between President Taft and Messrs. Emery, Reynolds and Sanders, members of the recently created tariff board.

Horse Kills Farmer.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 18.—George South, a wealthy farmer living eleven miles from Casselton, died in the St. John's hospital here from injuries inflicted by a horse he was leading into his barn on his farm. A colt was bothering the horse and it kicked, missing the colt and hitting South in the pit of the abdomen.

Gets Twenty Years in Prison.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—Twenty years in the Stillwater penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Judge Orr on Luigi Mancini, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree for the killing of Donati Minelli, an old street sweeper, at his home on South Exchange street last June.

Young Girl Murdered.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Some children playing in a ravine near the river bank just above Arch street, Green Island, opposite this city, found the body of a young girl. The body was lying face downward. There were bruises on her face and her clothing, which was perfectly dry, was disarranged. Dr. Silcocks, coroner's physician, unhesitatingly pronounced it a case of murder and assault.

It is reported here today by Jay Henry Long, who returned from a visit to Aitkin, that the iron ore discovered in a well in the rear of the Potter Casey company store last week proved to be a vein 31 feet in depth, but of a low and unmarketable grade. Below the iron they struck rock and did not attempt to pierce that stratum, though some believe that high grade ore would have been found deeper in the ground. The result exactly coincides with the prediction made by Cuyler Adams when the first report was heard of the find at Aitkin.

The fire department was called to the Pearce block this afternoon by a fire that proved baffling for a few minutes. The smoke all came from the millinery store and the rooms above it, apparently, but the fire was finally found under the trying kettle in the cash meat market. The kettle was setting on bricks laid in cement, one thickness of bricks only,
being between the ashes and the floor.
There was no trace of smoke in the meat market and a hole cut in the floor close to the stove failed to show fire until the stove was moved, when the floor was found to be burned out for a space of a foot and a half across. Had the fire not developed until tonight the building would probably have been badly damaged if not destroyed. As it was the damage was nominal.

German Mashed Potatoes.

A woman who has lived some time in Germany offers the following recipe as a German way to prepare mashed potatoes: Boil the potatoes in salted water. When they are almost cooked, peel, core and quarter one-third as many apples as there are potatoes.
Add them and cook the whole till tender. Then mash thoroughly, mixing in meanwhile a pinch of salt and a generous piece of butter. This dish is served at dinner instead of ordinary mashed potatoes. It looks exactly like the latter, but has a slightly tart flavor.—New York Tribune.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A play of the Better Sort
The new melodrama, "Lone Star of Texas" which is announced to be at the opera house tonight has already gained more reputation than most plays do in a season. The reports indicate that it is an unusually clever play of the better sort, that is, a melodrama of genuine American interest without cheap sentimentality. Beaumont Claxton, the author, has mingled humor and pathos, in the way that delights audiences.
The company and scenery are promised to be as excellent as required for a play that tells a story of unusual beauty and heart interest.

POST-OFFICE AT CUYUNA ROBBED

About Ten Dollars in Money and Two Registered Letters Taken

WORK ON SHAFT PROGRESSING

New Shaft is Down 139 Feet and Will be Sunk 250 Feet Before Beginning Drifting

Cuyuna, Minn., Nov. 17.—The Cuyuna Postoffice, which is kept by Frank Buchanan in his hotel in this village was robbed last night. About $10 in money and stamps was secured and two registered letters were taken. Every letter in the postoffice is said to have been opened in an effort to secure more money. It is said that there are clues which may result in arrests, but the officials are reticent as to the matter.

The new four-compartment shaft at the Kennedy mine is now down 139 feet. This shaft, which was purposely sunk in the foot wall rather than in the ore will be put down 250 feet before drifting is commenced. Work in the first shaft, or rather in drifting from that shaft, is still in progress and will be continued all winter. While no effort is being made to accumulate a stock pile, beyond the ore taken out in drifting the tunnels, yet there is now about 6,000 tons in the stock pile awaiting the coming of the railroad. It is reported that the Rogers-Brown Ore Co. will not commence work on its shaft on section 30, town of Deerwood, until the Cuyuna Iron Range railroad is completed to that point. In sinking the shafts at Cuyuna a heavy item of expense has been the hauling of fuel, machinery, etc., and it is in order to avoid this heavy expense that the starting of that work is being delayed.

ELECTRIC SHOCK NEARLY FATAL

Little Falls, Minn., Nov. 18.—An accident of an extremely peculiar nature occurred at the First National Bank here when an electric light played a prank that nearly proved fatal to one man and injured two others.

M. Parks, a stone mason, was making some alterations about the furnace base and J. K. Martin, the cashier, held the electric light extension that he might see the work. Parks wished to go under the boiler so took the light. As he stepped in front of the furnace arch, his body became rigid and he fell heavily to the floor, still grasping the light. Mr. Martin tried to pry the light from the unconscious man's hand and was so shocked that he was hurled to the wall. M. Denis a helper, then assisted and as Mr. Martin opened Parks' hand, Denis grabbed the wire. When he touched the wire, Denis was unable to relax his fingers and he was knocked to the floor. The globe was kicked from his hand and Denis was revived. Mr. Parks suffered to a greater extent than the others and while not burned, the his body.

GATHERED HERE AND THERE

Judge Wright, who is holding court at Long Prairie, permitted two lads, one 17 and the other 20, who were caught in the act of holding a man up in Staples, to plead guilty to a charge of assault and let them off with a fine of $25 or 30 days in jail. He did this principally because of the plea of the mother of one of the lads, who came all the way from Arkansas to plead for her 17-year old son. She paid his fine and he left with her at once for their southern home. The other lad had to lay out his sentence in jail. Both boys said they smoked cigarettes and drank moderately. Judge Wright delivered a very impressive talk to the boys in passing sentence, his remarks being reported in full in the Long Prairie Leader.

That one can win distinction even in a humble position was shown afresh by the fact for the first time in the history of the University of Cincinnati the chapel was opened for a funeral Saturday, and this was not for the funeral of a professor but for that of the janitor who had been in charge of the building for over 25 years. Former students from far and near came to attend the services.

Smokeless

Until science discovered a way to construct the Automatic Smokeless Device, and make it completely dependable, all oil heaters had one common great fault—smoke.

With the advent of the Automatic Smokeless Device, and its practical application to the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

the smoke problem was successfully solved.

The Perfection Oil Heater is the only heater equipped with this

Automatic Smokeless Device

which insures a steady, full-glowing heat, with the wick turned up as high as it will go, without a shred of smoke. Reverse the motion, turn the wick down—there's no odor.

The smokeless device automatically locks and prevents the upward movement of the wick beyond the proper exposure. That is the secret. This splendid result gives leadership to the Perfection.

You may now have all the heat you want—when you want it—and where you want it—without the annoyance of smoke or odor. Brass font holds 4 quarts of oil, which permits a glowing heat for 9 hours. Brass wick tube—damper top—cool handle. Cleaned in a minute. The Perfection is beautifully finished in Nickel or Japan.

Phil Armour and a Dude.

A Chicago dude applied for a position to Phil Armour. The young pup made one of those vestmental surveys of the old man, who thereupon said, "Well, how do you like my looks and what do you want?" "Sir, if you please, my desire is to sell sausage," said the dude. "Oh," said old Phil, "the way you looked at me I thought my family had sent you to measure me up for a new suit. Butchers might look at you, but they wouldn't listen to you. Show him out, John."—New York Press.

Never Opened His Mouth.

"Not infrequent rays of unconscious humor illumine the otherwise impossible stories that come to my desk from amateurs," says a reader for one of the magazines. "Recently I chanced upon this choice bit:

"John, the husband, and Grace, the wife, ate on together in silence. There was indubitably an ill feeling between them. The husband devoured a plate of soup, half a fish, an entree or two, a piece of roast beef, together with a sweet, without ever once opening his mouth."

CANADA WILL NOT CONSENT

Will Refuse to Allow More American Warships on Great Lakes.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Information received in Washington from Ottawa is to the effect that the Canadian government has informed the state department that no practice vessels for naval militia will be permitted on the Great Lakes. It is also indicated that there have been diplomatic exchanges between the two governments in which are stated the objections of the Canadian government to having more armed American ships placed on the lakes for any purpose whatever.

Under the Rush-Bagot convention, the armed force of each government on the Great Lakes was to consist of one vessel. The United States, under this agreement, has maintained the warship Wolverine, formerly the Michigan. Since the formation of naval militia organizations in the states bordering on the lakes a number of small vessels have been sent to stations in these states, to be used for training purposes.

The consent of the Canadian government was obtained before each vessel was sent there, such consent being necessary in order that they might pass through the Welland canal. The arms were not placed on any of these vessels until they reached their stations in American waters, but the mere fact of their being in such close proximity to Canadian territory has aroused certain Canadian newspapers to protest against what they term a violation of the Rush-Bagot agreement.

It is indicated that the Canadian government has no disposition to abrogate the existing agreement, nor to force the United States to withdraw any of the militia vessels, but that it has merely put this government on notice that in future permission to send more American war vessels to the Great Lakes will be refused.

Wallack on the Ballet.

The late Lester Wallack once told a story of his still more famous father, James W., that as either an actor or a manager he could never tolerate the ballet, even where it was seemingly necessary according to custom as part of an entertainment or in the opera.

One day there came to him a friend, a man about town, who said, "My dear Wallack, it is very curious that you do not see the beauties of imagination shown by the poses of the ballet." Going on in this strain, the visitor at last wore out the patience of the actor-manager, who replied:

"Look here, it is bad enough to stand these absurdities in an opera; but, though I can comprehend people singing their joys, I am hanged if I can their dancing their griefs."

Never Touched Him.

"Yes," said the amateur fisherman, "I caught a three pound trout yesterday, and while at the end of my line in midair it was seized by a hawk and carried off."

"You're all right," rejoined the village grocer. "Such a trifle as fixing the weight of a fish before it is landed can't impair your standing in the Ananias club."—Chicago News.

ACTS DIRECTLY ON BAD KIDNEYS

Backache Simply Vanishes and Your Kidneys and Bladder Will Act Fine Again

DON'T HESITATE A MOMENT

Just a Few Doses Taken now Will Regulate Your Out-of-Order Kidneys and Urinary System

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vanish and you will feel fine.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

Feeling miserable and worried is needless, because this unusual-preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing, cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment that you suspect any kidney or urinary trouble or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which would effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means active, clean, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

CHANGES MADE IN HIGH PLACES

Taft's Appointees Displacing Roosevelt Men.

MEANS REVERSAL OF POLICY

State Department Passing Through a Period of Reorganization and Little Will Be Left of the Old Staff of Higher Officials When All the Changes Determined Upon Are Put Into Effect.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Slowly but steadily President Taft and his cabinet members are eliminating the old Roosevelt appointees and are placing the federal offices in the hands that are accounted reliable from the standpoint of the new administration.

The latest changes to be made known here relate to the District of Columbia's local government and the two "District commissioners." Assistant Secretary Reynolds is now to be replaced by some one else whose name is not thus far announced. Already the director of the mint, the treasurer of the United States and the first and third assistant secretaries have been displaced and the "jobs" given to others.

The state department is passing through its period of reorganization and little will be left of the old staff of higher officials when the changes determined upon are put into effect. Numbers of the most important foreign missions will have new heads and even among the minor posts there is a great deal of shifting and changing in prospect.

The postoffice department has suffered within the past day or two, it being announced that four of the assistant postmasters general would be displaced. New men have already been named officially for some of the places.

Motive in Making Changes.

The motive in making the changes is apparently more than the merely political incentive which controls at the opening of an administration. It is noted here as a striking and interesting fact that in a great many instances the incumbents of the places are men who are confessedly opposed to the policies and plans of their predecessors. This is notably true of Attorney General Wickersham, of Assistant Secretary McHarg of the department of labor, who dropped out of office of his own free will; of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and of very many minor officers.

This situation is important in a way that is recognized by comparatively few. The vacancies on the supreme bench, present and prospective, will give to President Taft what President Roosevelt never had—the substantial power to remodel that tribunal. If the men picked out are chosen in accordance with the principles which are controlling the administrative appointments the supreme court will assume a new aspect and may even grow more "conservative" than in the past.

Places on the interstate commerce commission will also have to be filled in the near future by the president owing to the expiration of terms of existing members and, with the business of the commission at the present crucial point, that is an unusually significant matter.

The fact that the president has thus far thrown his weight on the side of the conservative group in congress cannot help exerting a strong effect upon the personnel of the next house of representatives.

With the legislative, judicial and administrative branches of the government radically transformed by changes in membership based upon a difference in point of view and of principle the federal policy bids fair to become an entirely new thing in the near future.

EBERHART WANTS ECONOMY

Does Not Desire Abolition of Oil and Boiler Inspection.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—"I want the state oil and boiler inspection done in a businesslike manner, and when I advocate the abolition of those departments I do not advocate the abolition of the inspection. I think we could have better inspection at less cost."

This statement was made by Governor A. O. Eberhart to supplement his speech at Minneapolis Monday night, in which he advocated a number of reforms which the state might bring about. The governor boarded a train for Chicago immediately after making his speech in Minneapolis and not until he returned here did he know of the wide publicity that the speech had been given.

"If the law were made stricter and certain standards for oil established and then severe penalties provided for any company selling oil not up to standard, the state would not need to spend $60,000 a year for oil inspection," he explained.

PASSES IRISH LAND BILL

House of Lords Changes Amendments Opposed by Commons.

London, Nov. 18.—The Irish land bill was passed in the house of lords with some changes in the amendments recently proposed by the lords, to which the house of commons on Nov. 5 refused to agree.

The vote in the house of commons on the motion not to agree to the house of lords amendments to the Irish land bill on Nov. 5 stood 319 to 54. On moving the motion, Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, declared that he was most anxious to come to terms, as the failure of the bill would create a deplorable situation in Ireland, and that an effort would be made to arrange a compromise between the two houses of parliament. A committee was appointed for this purpose.

JOHN MITCHELL

GIVEN OVATION

Labor Leader Addresses Convention at Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 18.—The twenty-ninth convention of the American Federation of Labor suspended its dignity for three minutes late in the day's session to give its heart a chance. It gave John Mitchell an ovation which fairly made the windows of the hall rattle.

It was at the close of the reading of the report of the committee on boycotts and in support of the motion to adopt the report that Mitchell arose in the midst of the miners' delegation to speak. There was silence in the hall, as every one appreciated the importance of what a man sentenced to prison because of boycotting would say. The report of the committee strongly upheld the resort to boycott, declaring that under present conditions the boycott is a necessary legal and moral weapon, and one that, as President Gompers will say, there should be no hesitating in using when other remedies fail and the occasion demands the usual and drastic antidote.

Very deliberately Mr. Mitchell began his remarks, and at no time did he display undue excitement or assume an air of bitterness.

"I take this occasion," he began, "to record my positive concurrence in the report of the committee on boycott just read. I realize that every statement made on the floor of this convention by those who must on Monday next surrender to the court was closely scrutinized.

"I know not what in the way of personal hardship may be in store for me, but no amount of mental or physical suffering will convince me that I have not the right to spend my money when and where I will, and the right to write and speak as I please, being responsible to the law for my acts.

"Any attempt through the subtleties of the law to take from me this right must be resisted by all the means within our power."

The report of the boycott committee was adopted by unanimous vote. The International Labor Press association was organized here with Charles W. Frear of Joplin, Mo., as president.

A Pin Shower.

Fortunate is the bride who receives a pin shower. If only her friends confer beforehand, so that there will be no duplicates, and use a little intelligence in the selection of gifts, she will get no end of charming things. There are belt pins and hatpins and stickpins and collar and veil pins, hairpins and watch pins, besides all sorts of useful pins, cubes of fancy toilet pins, papers of black and white pins and assortments of safety pins. To complete the collection there might also be a rolling pin.

Opening an Oyster.

"The Cook's Oracle," a book which was never far from the kitchens of our great-grandmothers, is very precise in its directions as to the proper manner of preserving and eating oysters, says an English journal. "The true lover of an oyster," writes the author, "will have some regard for the feelings of his little favorite and will never abandon it to the mercies of a bungling operator, but will open it himself and contrive to detach the fish from the shell so dexterously that the oyster is hardly conscious he has been ejected from his lodging till he feels the teeth of the piscivorous gourmand tickling him to death."
